MISCELLANEOUS CLUSTER REVISION

To replace ENST 207 Internship in Sustainability with ENST 330 Principles of Sustainability in the Food Cultures cluster. The core course will not be offered until spring 2011.

ENROLLMENT REPORT FOR COURSES APPROVED BEFORE FALL 2006

Nick Siedentop has prepared a report (attached) on courses approved prior to 2006 and listed in the 2010 Undergraduate Bulletin but showing no enrollment since fall 2006. The report does not include courses added to the inventory after fall 2006 or courses reserved for such purposes as internships, research, special topics, etc. Of 3872 courses active in fall 2006 and still in the inventory today, 861 (22.2%) have seen no enrollment since fall 2006.

Erika Lindemann
Associate Dean for Undergraduate Curricula

Erika,

I'm writing to request an adjustment to the list of courses which fulfill PWAD major requirements. Hist 276 Modern Middle East should be counted as fulfilling a PWAD major requirement, under either the Culture of Peace and War, or the National and International Defense and Security concentrations.

Obviously the region's history is of central importance in the current security environment, and furthermore, many of our students take a similar course on various study abroad programs, and it is a no-brainer to have it count toward our major.

Sincerely,

Wayne E. Lee
